A year to look 'Behind-the-Scenes'

We chose the theme, "Behind-the-Scenes," because we wanted to include in our yearbook activities and events that people don't usually know about, things like the long hours of practice after school in the "non-glamorous" sports and the time that goes into preparing for a musical concert or play.

We also wanted to inleude the people who work behind-thescenes to make this school run smoothly. And, finally, the work that went on behind-the-scenes to produce this book. We hope we have achieved some of these goals and helped capture the year in a memorable way.

The 1988-1989 academic year has a few new twists. With a new principal comes new curriculum. This year we have a wider variety of classes to choose from to prepare us for our lives ahead. We have a Geography course and a Humanities class, among others.

Colleges are raising their admission requirements. Students need more English courses, experience in a foreign language and more math and science. A college education is becoming more important in the job world. As a result, students are concentrating in their studies more and are also worrying about their future. North Scott High School is trying to provide courses to adequately prepare students for whatever post-high school life they choose.

Kara Ulloa studies, while Jimmy Lindle looks onto Aaron Tuftee's paper.

SCENES OF 1988

The Space Shuttle Discovery triumphantly returned America to space on September 29, for the first time since the Challenger explosion on January 28, 1986.

A "Geraldo" episode on civil rights became a riot sense during a November 4 taping of the popular talk show. Geraldo Rivera aired another controversial show during the school year. The special, which aired on October 25, revealed just how disgusting devil worship really is.

Disasters plagued the world in December. From the Armenian earthquake on December 7, to a triple train wreck on December 12, to a Boeing-747 plane crash in Lockerbie, Scotland on December 22, death seemed to affect everyone worldwide as over 70,000 people died in these disasters.

On July 14, President Ronald Reagan visited Davenport to pass a drought relief bill and to dedicate a new Signal Hill Communications facility for radio stations WOC AM and KIIK-104 FM.

The Centennial Bridge, connecting Davenport, Iowa to Rock Island, Illinois, was lit up ceremoniously on September 4, by state governors Terry Bransted and Jim Thompson. The lighting of the bridge would hopefully attract new businesses to the Quad Cities.

Three gray whales caused international concern in October. They were trapped in Arctic waters for a three week period, but two surviving whales followed a Soviet icebreaker to freedom.

The stormy marriage of WBC Heavyweight Champion Mike Tyson and wife Robin Givens made national headlines with their upcoming divorce. Tyson accused Ms. Givens of marrying him only for his money, while Ms. Givens alleged that he was excessively violent outside the boxing ring.

The 1988 Shield received national recognition when it was featured in the USA Today on June 6, 1988.

Everyone who listened to music during 1988 knew about the group shown to the left, the California Raisins. The group of claymation figures aired TV advertisements to stimulate the sale of raisins and released a successful novelty album. For more about music in 1988, see pages 22-23.

Devastating Drought & Forest Fires Plague '88

The summer of 1988 brought about one of the worst droughts of the century, as was demonstrated by this barren field.

From June to September, untamed fires destroyed many acres of Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming. Visitors to the area didn't let that stop them from taking in the geysers and grizzly bears, since only part of the park was closed, but 1600 firefighters worked night and day to keep the blaze under control. According to a Park Service spokesman, a small fire wouldn't be so bad — it would thin the underbrush and clear out the trees that had fallen, making an overall better habitat for wildlife — but combined with drought-affected land, it could result in disaster. Fortunately, the fires ended before any unchangeable damage could be done. They had a slight impact on the midwest, however, causing a hazy sky filled with smoke particles — and a few days of beautiful red sunsets, which were welcomed by all but those who had allergies.

Iowa farmers usually produce over one billion bushels of corn yearly, but this wasn't the case in 1988. The drought reduced the crops by 30% — a total of 848 million bushels. On statewide basis, Iowa had only 9.81 inches of precipitation. This drought has been recorded as the worst since 1936, when it was over 100 degrees for days at a time. For area farmers there was soon news that even with the loss of many crops, the effects were not as bad as some had feared. There was approximately $960 million lost, but a federal drought relief bill passed by Congress should offset that to an extent. During the drought, the entire corn belt - from Ohio and Michigan into eastern Nebraska - was under great stress. With help from the government and each other, farmers were able to pull together and keep their farms and livestock alive. Fred Walker, a farmer in Indiana, summed it up: "We might be able to handle a year like this," he says, "But let's hope that Mother Nature doesn't give us another one for quite awhile."

Fires ruled and raged most of the summer in Yellowstone National Park, continually making headlines across the country.

Behind the White House

A NS patron takes democracy into his own hands.

George Bush strikes the pose that won the election.

It was an election that many people didn't want to take part in. After numerous months of campaigning and tiresome polls, it got to the point where some potential voters decided not to participate at all - fewer adults had their say in this election than in any other for half a century. Bush, who chose to point out Dukakis' weak points in most of his ads, won the electoral vote 426 to 112. However, he only pulled in 54% of the popular vote. In the Quad Cities and the whole state of Iowa, the tune was different-Dukakis was the most widely chosen candidate, but he only took the lead in ten other states. Some people attributed his loss to the fact that he didn't "get tough" with Bush. For the Republicans, who have won five out of the last six elections, the four years ahead hold plenty of time to keep their party going strong.

Summer Olympics '88

Forence Griffith-Joyner flashes her infamous red nails as she sprints by.

The 1988 Summer Olympics took place in Seoul, Korea. Some of the well known athletes included Ben Johnson, Carl Lewis, Jackie Joyner-Kersee, Florence Griffith-Joyner and Greg Louganis. Ben Johnson, of Canada, was the winner in the 100 meter run after upsetting the United States' Carl Lewis, but three days later had to forfeit his medal to Lewis because he tested positive for steroids.

Lewis set an American record of 9.92 seconds in the 100 and had a near-personal best of 19.79 in the 200, receiving a silver medal. He won the long jump with a jump of 28'7.5".

Jackie Joyner-Kersee took home two gold medals — one in the heptatholon and another in the long jump, clearing 24'3.5". Her sister-inlaw, Florence Griffith-Joyner, earned three golds and one silver. She received the gold in the 4x100 relay, the 100 (with a time of 10.49 seconds), and in the 200 (with a time of 21.34). The 4x400 relay team won a silver medal, although Griffith-Joyner wasn't even expected to run.

In the swimming competition, Matt Biondi hauled in five medals — all of which were gold — with his freestyle and butterfly. Janet Evans, a favorite with the crowds, added three more golds to that breaking the world record in the 400 meter freestyle.

After smacking his head on the board, diver Greg Louganis came back to take a well-earned gold medal with him. The 1988 Olympic Games will stand out among others in history because of all the great athletes and their accomplishments.

Seventeen-vear-old Janet Evans captured the hearts of the spectators, not to mention three gold medals.

U2 Van Halen

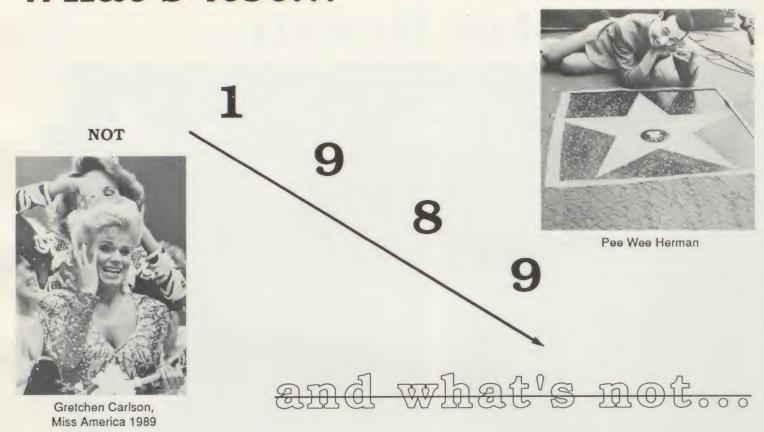

This has been a big year in music once again. Many groups have hit the music with a hard sound.

New groups like White Lion and Britny Fox have had hit debut albums with concert success, but the group that has had the biggest debut has been Guns-N-Roses. Van Halen, Bon Jovi, and Def Leppard all had major combacks; #1 albums and giant, headlining tours. Van Halen had the biggest tour in history during the summer of '88. Def Leppard had the stage in the center of the arena that was a sight to see.

The year was big for pop stars, too. George Michael's Faith album had six #1 hits, and Michael Jackson's Bad album had five #1 songs. U2 released their Rattle and Hum movie and sound-track, which both hit the top spot in their division.

There's no question about it; '88 was another rockin' year!

Attacking asbestos

A worker replaces some of the high school ceiling.

When school started on Aug. 29, North Scott High School's hallways were, for the most part, sans ceiling. That infamous culprit, asbestos, was the cause. A summer project to remove the asbestos didn't end soon enough for the ceilings to be replaced before school started. That's why hallways were bare mazes of beams and pipes for the first few weeks of the year.

The asbestos removal was required by law because of tests that show asbestos may be a carcinogen — that is, prolonged exposure to it may cause cancer of the lungs or esophagus when inhaled. Asbestos was a popular insulating agent in the 1950's, '60's and into the '70's.

Workers had to withstand temperatures up to 140 degrees inside special suits to remove the asbestos from the high school during the hot, dry summer of '88.

After the workers carefully removed the asbestos from each hall, they washed it with water and a special soap. An air sample was then taken to make sure there were no asbestos traces in the air. When the sample was approved, the hall was re-opened. And then the ceilings were steadily replaced.

With the ceiling tiles out, it made walking through the halls seem like crawling through a cave.

LANCER CAMPERS LEARN TO LEAD

Kris Felsman, Wendy Hamann and Robin O'Shaughnessy tell of the bear they saw in the Scott County Park forest.

Eric Belman is a perfect example of "The Happy Camper."

It was a wet but enjoyable weekend for the 63 student and ten teachers who spent an October weekend on a retreat at Scott County Park. This was the second annual Lancer Leadership Camp.

The event was sponsored by Paul Flynn and Tori Maxfield, North Scott High School teachers.

Group discussions and activities were led by Carole Harder and Tom Williams. The North Scott Kiwanis and the Eldridge Lions furnished tasty meals.

FRONT: Chad Forari, Jim Ruggeberg, Jennifer Kirby, Angie Case, (BACK) Eric Masterson, Mike Abbas and the gang demonstrate the power that comes from leadership.

Gyle Smith, Lance Golinghorst and Nick Fears rest on a picnic table. Being leaders can be exhausting.

Laurie Schroeder and Amy Bouril work on creative tent building.

No, she's not selling Toyotas. Darcey Timmerman was just fired up about the Lancer Leadership camp.

Heather Snyder, Melissa Madden and Julie Buzzell are happy that they've managed to assemble their tent.

OUR CHAOTIC PARKING LOT

Every weekday for nine months North Scott students come to school by bus, by car or on foot. The ones who drive to school have a problem: Where do they park?

The number of students who drive has increased each semester for the last several years and, with that increase has come the problem of too few places to park. With such car crowding, there are more chances for accidents and for vandalism to student cars.

The student parking lot may look peaceful and organized now, but after 3:10 it's every car for itself.

Even the east parking lot is as stuffed as a Thanksgiving turkey every day.

SOPHOMORES SUDS IT UP

Krista Longlett, Amy Bouril, Kelli Andresen, Tenley Murphy, and Linda Blumer work diligently to remove every last water spot.

Dawnita Griffin, Lisa Gries, Tenley Murphy, Krista Longlett and Megan Byers aren't too busy to smile, although Jodee Gehrls keeps on working.

Several Lancer sophomores got together on Saturday, Sept. 10 for car wash fund-raiser for the Homecoming dance.

The car wash was held at Slagle's in Eldridge and at the Parkview SuperValu. It cost only $3 to have your car washed. The sophomores managed to raise $180.

"We had a lot of work to do," said Sophomore Stacia DeLuca, "but we had a blast!"

OPEN AND CLOSED

Jean Filson and Grace Woodword utilize the media centered during their free hour.

These girls are playing a little 1 on 1 basketball in P.E. class.

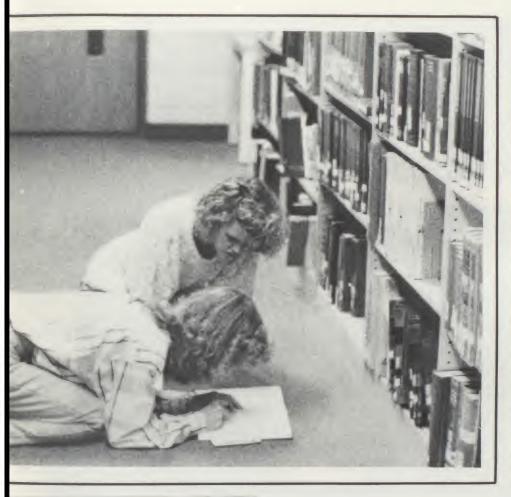

For some closed study hall is a reality; Rex Baetke passes the time by reading a magazine.

STUDY HALL OR P.E.?

This year was very controversial with all the new rules for open study hall. The rules were that you had to have a 2.0 GPA and no F's. Roll was taken at the beginning of the period. But in open study hall you are free to drink pop, eat candy bars, and socialize.

Closed study hall in a way is like being in Runge Mortuary. The only difference is that in our case people aren't dying to get in, but dying to get out. Closed study hall is for freshmen and students with any F's and a GPA of less than 2.0.

On even numbered days you will find juniors and seniors enjoying a strenuous period of physical education. There is bowling, ping pong, rollerskating, and floor games to entertain students. Along with new rules in open study hall comes new rules in P.E. Students are unable to wear torn clothing and are given only one "no clothes" day.

Open study hall, closed study hall, and physical education are just a way of life for students at North Scott High.

- BEHIND THE DESK
 - Q: What is the funniest experience that ever happened in your P.E. class?
 - A: Many years ago I had a student who could not dress out for P.E. because she could not get her pants off. She tried very hard but could only manage to pull them half way down. We finally cut the pants up the seam so she could get them off.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

How would you like it if your parent worked in the same district in which you attended school? We asked some students who have parents who work in North Scott the following questions:

- 1. In what ways does it bother you to have a parent working at school?
- 2. What advantages are there?
- 3. Does the fact that your parent works here influence your grades and/or your behavior at school?
- 4. Do you talk to your parent at school or do you pretend they're not there?
- 5. If you had a choice, would you still have your parent work in this school district?

Gary Masterson (son of Mr. Masterson, school board president):

- 2. Yes, there are a lot of advantages to having a parent working in the school district, but the one I REALLY enjoy most is getting a FREE yearbook each and every year.
- 3. Yes, it does affect my grades. I must maintain at least a "B" average or my father will have my hide.

Chris Hartman (daughter of Mrs. Hartman, cook):

I do talk to my mom. I treat her like one of my friends.

Chris Nevenhoven (son of Mr. Nevenhoven, drivers' ed teacher):

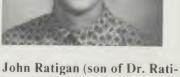

1. A lot of kids think I receive good grades because of who I know. In reality, I earn them.

Janeen Heiman (daughter of Mrs. Heiman, science teacher at the high school):

3. Yes, it does influence the way I act in the hallways, but not my schoolwork.

John Ratigan (son of Dr. Ratigan, high school principal):

1. When I do something out of the ordinary, people say, I can't believe you're doing that, you're the principal's kid.

5. I wish that he did work somewhere else so everyone wouldn't expect such high things from me.

Daryl Fisher (son of Mr. Fisher, head custodian at the high school):

- 2. I had no trouble finding my classes because my dad knows the halls like a kid knows Pac-man.
- 5. I wouldn't change it a bit. I like it because he gets in on first-hand gossip.

Jerel Lee reigns at '89 B-C

"CELEBRATE YOUR LOVE" was the theme for the 1989
"Bachelor Capture" Dance.

Big Ed was the official photographer.

King Jerel Lee and the other members of the Top Ten were introduced.

People boogied the night away to the roaring sounds of the finest stereo system this side of Silvis.

The B-C aud was held on Valentine's Day with the Top Ten, their escorts and parents being introduced to the wild and crazy crowd in The Lancer Country Pit. After a brief history of each candidate was read and acted out by the cheerleaders in costume, the 1988 B-C King, Leo Costello, crowned the '89 King, Jerel Lee.

There were no special "Days of the Week" for B-C this year, breaking the recent tradition.

The members of the Top Ten were, in addition to Jerel: Mike Abbas, Mike Benson, Grant Hoyt, Mike Ruggeberg, Dave Straka, Craig Ohl, Craig Lamont, Brian Wessel and Jay Olson.

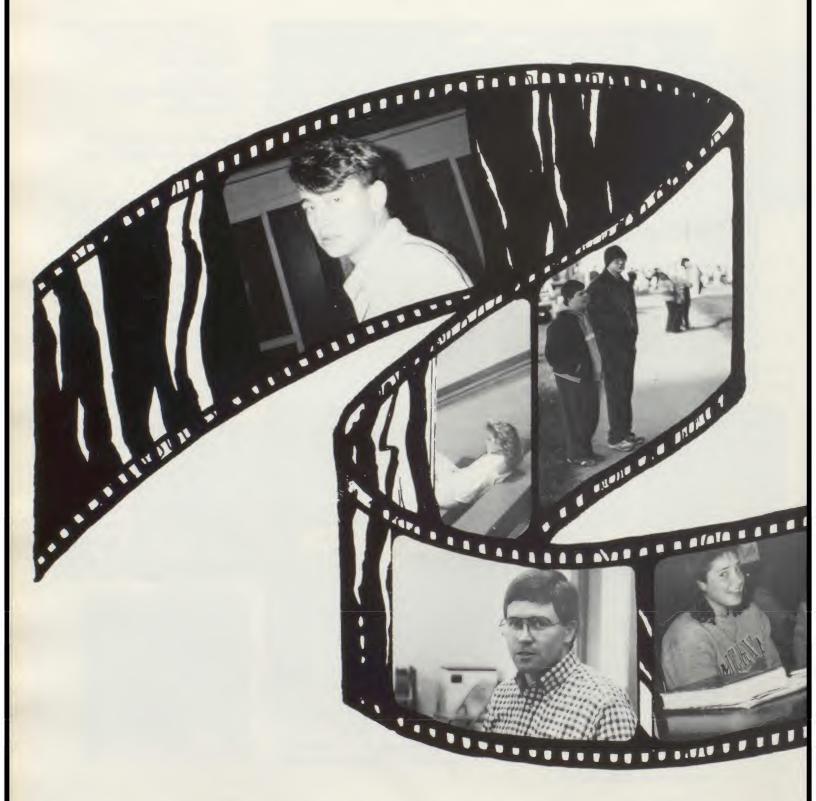

CROWNED – '88 B-C King Leo Costello crowns '89 King Jerel Lee. Candidates Craig Lamont, Craig Ohl and Jay Olson look on with escorts Tracey Schneckloth, Kay Byers and Julie Buzzell.

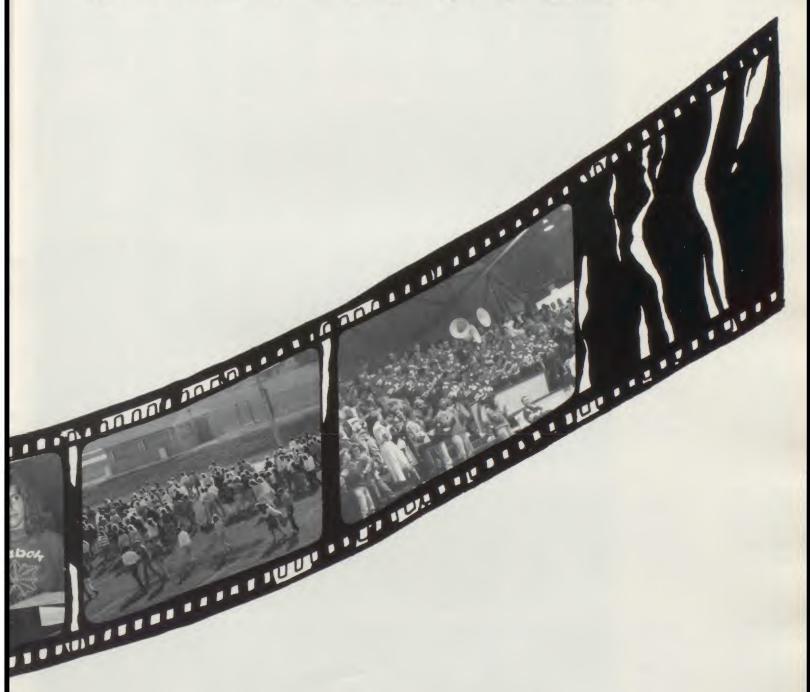

JEREL'S "But seriously..." look.

ESCORTED -- Jerel is escorted at the B-C Aud by Kay Byers.

THE WALK - Mike Ruggeberg is escorted by Julie Buzzell as the crowd watches.

'Principal of the Year' takes over

When North Scott Principal Craig Hintz resigned last year to take an administrative post in Indianapolis, the search began for a successor. He was found at Tri-Center High School in western Iowa. He is Dr. Gary Ratigan, selected by the National Association of Secondary School Principals as Iowa's 1988 "Principal of the Year." As the new principal at North Scott High School, Ratigan has led the revision of some discipline policies and become actively involved in all school activities.

'Master teacher' forums held

At the suggestion of Dr. Ratigan, the North Scott faculty engaged in weekly discussions based on subjects featured in the "Master Teacher" pamphlets. Teacher participation was voluntary. Discussions covered such subjects as "Suicide: What Can We Do About It?"; "How We Control Academic Achievement"; "Handling the Habitual Late Arriver"; "Teaching Students How to Take Notes"; Professional Responses to Right and Wrong Answers"; and "Handling the Rebel." Teachers who participated seemed to think the discussions were a valuable investment of their time, both for the subject discussed and the opportunity to share ideas with their colleagues.

Teachers concentrate on preparation

Many teachers are experiencing more class time but less time to prepare for those classes. Several teachers are now teaching six out of seven periods per day with only one 50-minute "prep" period. That means, unless teachers work on their own time, they have 20 minutes before school, 30 minutes after school and, generally, one 50-minute prep period per day to prepare lessons for all their classes, do their grading, fill out forms, keep various records and try to keep up on changes in the teaching profession.

Delmar Ryan reads material to prepare for his classes. Meanwhile, math teacher Betty Kube grades papers.

Art teacher Bernie Peeters ponders assignments for his Advanced Studio class.

Industrial arts teacher Harvey Perrine checks his grade book.

"Je ne cronpend jamais les filles," a French student replies as French teacher Marya Smith listens intently.

School nurse Joan Boeding is a valuable member of the North Scott team. She tends to many minor student injuries and illnesses and is always prepared for any medical emergency.

SCENES OF SERVICES

Every day they're seen roaming the countryside. They haul over 2,000 students to the various schools in the North Scott District every day. What are they? School buses, of course.

Usually, we don't think much of the drivers who guide the buses or, if we do, we often think of the drivers as insensitive, strict and unreasonable. Not necessarily true, however.

Besides transporting students to and from school safely, drivers play many other important roles. Some act as tour guides on field trips. Others become fans when driving students to sports events.

In order for each of the district's 36 buses to stay in service for 15 years, mechanics have to work hard. Each bus is inspected every year by the Iowa Highway Patrol.

So next time you ride the bus on your part of the 220 square miles in this district, think of the drivers who work behind-the-scenes.

Cooks and custodians are two more behind-the-scenes groups who play a vital role in the daily operation of a successful high school. Cooking for and cleaning up after nearly 1,000 students every day is a challenge that North Scott's cooks and custodians meet very effectively.

Dale Dammann, left, seems to be enjoying his work as he cleans the tables in the commons. Joyce Hengl makes a clean sweep of a classroom (right).

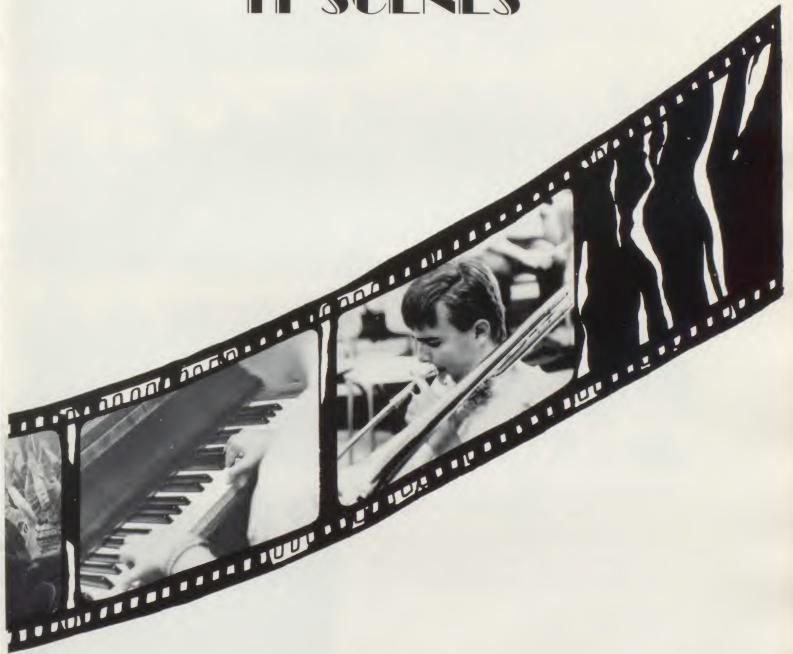

Judy Swanson is busy long after most students and teachers have left the building.

Doug Fisher has a huge job in directing his staff of custodians to make sure the high school is clean and that everything from the clocks to the boiler are working properly. Helping Mr. Fisher accomplish all this are Judy Swanson, Marcia Bortleson, Dick Erps, Joyce Hengl and Brad Bostrom.

Even though much of their work is behind-the-scenes, it is a big factor in making North Scott High School a great place to be.

SYMPHONIC and CONCERT BANDS HAVE WORLDS of FUN on KANSAS CITY VISIT

Perhaps the highlight of the 1988-89 concert and symphonic band season was the trip to Kansas City, Mo., to compete in the "Worlds of Fun Festival of Bands,"

While in Kansas City, the band members also were able to fun-it-up at the Worlds of Fun amusement park and visit other sites in and around Kansas City.

The band members raised money for the trip with a bowl-a-thon, a nut sale and other activities. The Band Boosters contributed significantly, too, so that each band member had to raise only $70 to assure participation in the trip.

The senior trip for the bands was planned for Florida in June.

Christmas and Spring Concerts, the Tri-School Band Festival, Commencement, Pops Concert and contests also were highlights for the year.

The State Solo and Ensemble contest was held April 8 at North High in Davenport. North Scott then hosted the Tri-School Band Festival on April 11. Pleasant Valley and DeWitt high schools are the other participants.

Large Group Contest was held May 5 with North Scott recording its 19th straight division I rating for the Symphonic Band.

Mr. Dan Anderson directs the Symphonic Band. Mr. Bill Kessinger directs the Concert Band.

Director Dan Anderson puts his outstanding North Scott High School Symphonic Band through its paces in a 4th hour rehearsal.

The Concert Band works on its syncopation (or, as some band members put it, "playing our notes") under the direction of Bill Kessinger.

This behind-the-scenes look shows the Symphonic Band developing the little techniques that help to separate it from most high school bands.

They opened for Louie Bellson and the Northern Illinois Jazz Ensemble and sent five students to the All-State Jazz Festival in Des Moines. In between competitions, festivals, and various performances, the Jazz I ensemble found time to play at certain community functions.

CHOIRS INSPIRE

Chamber Singers perform throughout the school year for various community groups. This year the singers said good-bye to grueling 7 a.m. rehearsals to join the academic schedule during 5th hour. There were 20 singers this year. Beth Frye was the accompanist. The singers learn music ranging from classical to vocal jazz. They even add their own choreography from their own Andrea Gale that shows their undying spirit and off-beat humor. The hard work pays off with the annual Swing Show in March when the ties, suspenders and dazzling dresses help bring the music to life. Perhaps the group's favorite song this year was "Trickle, Trickle," by Manhattan Transfer.

The Great Escape -- It's time to go over the wall, these North Scott singers have decided. In the top photo, Janeen Fowler is aided and abetted by Amy King while Kelley Mckirahan, Mike Reese and Augie Ferguson try to act as decoys for the high-flying Andrea Gale.

The close-up in the bottom photo reveals the fact that Andrea has a leg up on her escape attempt, a fact that Augie has not allowed to escape him.

North Scott Singers are composed of upperclassmen and a few talented underclassmen who earn their spots through competitive tryouts. The North Scott Singers were featured in a Christmas performance on KWQC-TV6 in Davenport. The North Scott Singers also went Christmas caroling after the Eldridge Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

The North Scott Singers joined the Red Choir in the spring to perform the Negro spiritual, "A Woman Called Moses."

Once again the North Scott singers participated in the Tri-School Festival along with DeWitt and Pleasant Valley high schools.

"We have a lot of fun," says Amy Birtell. "Our Christmas tree has been converted into a 'holiday' tree. We just didn't want to take it down after Christmas, so when the George Bush Inaugural was held, we decorated with pictures of guys in his administration -- and Mrs. Bush was the star on top. We decorated for Valentine's Day and April Fool's Day and May Day and student birthdays and anything else we could think of."

Now maybe you can understand why this group sang for Dr. Ratigan's birthday while he was holding a meeting with other teachers and why they went Christmas caroling through the halls. They know how to have FUN!

LANCER PRODUCTIONS PRESENTS...

The drama of the stage -- 1989'

North Scott High School's classy auditorium was, again this year, graced with several classy performances by members of Lancer Productions.

Behind-the-scenes, dozens of students built sets, painted scenery, developed the skills necessary to allow Peter Pan and his friends to fly the friendly skies above the NSHS stage, moved scenery between acts, kept track of the books, handled make-up and costuming, set type and designed programs and generally made it possible for the thespians to make the most of their performances.

Members of Lancer Productions attended conferences, participated in various contests and spent long hours honing their skills at after-school rehearsals for the various presentations that highlighted the year.

North Scott English teachers Judith Jacobs and Diane Hall once again did an outstanding behind-the-scenes job of teaching and coaching their students.

"Godspell" rehearsals are fastmoving, as The Shield photographer discovered.

And just to prove once again that the hand is quicker than the shutter, LP's Brant Peitersen performs some speedy sleight of hand while taking a break from rehearsal.

ABIG JOB BEHIND -THESCENES

WITHOUT all the hard work of the set construction crews, the make-up and costume people, the lighting crew, the sound crew and other backstage workers, Lancer Productions could not reach the heights that it has been able to reach.

Dozens of North Scott students put in hundreds of hours of hard work with little recognition in order to help make the thespian life of the Lancers one to be envied.

GETTING READY – Members of the cast and crew mingle in the dressing room in this silhouette.

CUTTING UP -- This saw is one of the unsung heroes of the stage. It has helped create many parts of scenes which have greatly enhanced Lancer Productions performances.

MODELING – Here is a model of the "Godspell" set that Kym helped to construct.

Peter Pan' flies again on North Scott stage

In Never-Never-Land -- Andrea Gale strikes a classic Peter Pan pose as she relaxes in the wardrobe room.

Lancer Productions 1988 fall play, Peter Pan, was a rousing success. Perhaps the highlight of this production is the fact that the flying done by Peter Pan and the Darling children was handled entirely by North Scott students. Only a handful of high schools havesuccessfully accomplished this extremely difficult task with their own students. It is common for professional "flyers" to be brought in to handle the complex rope work. Bringing such people in costs thousands of dollars.

Here's how all this flying stuff was presented in the Peter Pan program:

"Flyces: Not to be confused with a "flyer," these brave, sturdy persons, in voluntary cooperation with Mrs. Judith Jacobs, put their wonderful, priceless lives in jeopardy (not to be confused with the TV game show) to therefore give the "flyers" an opportunity to pull on a magical rope ('lifeline') to raise the said person into the air at gravity-defying heights... The flyees, as any halfway intelligent person can tell, are the most important persons in our terrific production of Peter Pan!

"Flyers are the persons who hoist 'flyees' into the air via a magical rope and pulley system. It is believed that these people get cheap thrills from leaving 'flyees' hanging helplessly in the air for indefinite periods of time. The flyers have to pull these wonderful flyees which results in magical rope burns.

Behind-the-scenes, the flyers are not recognized, but the awesome flyees want to honor their flyers. Thanks... This production couldn't have been great without you!"

It's so darling -- Jeff Lassiter (Mr. Darling) talks things over with Jami Van Ryswyk (Mrs. Darling) while Wendy (Kelli Andresen), Jeff Cordts (Michael) and Ryan Riewerts (Slightly) listen.

It takes lots of folks to make it fly

Lancer Productions presentation of Peter Pan was directed by North Scott Drama Director and English teacher, Judith Jacobs. Assistant Drama Director and NSHS English teacher Diane Hall was business director. Technical Director was Tom Goodall with assistance from Dave Muhs. Angie Case was student director.

'SLOWLY I TURN" -- Step by step -- inch by inch." Then Jason Bauer firmly slaps Brant Peitersen in this scene from "Godspell."

odspell may be the greatest show we've ever done."

That's the way Mrs. Judith Jacobs, English teacher and director of Lancer Productions, described the 1989 Dinner Theater performance of "Godspell." And the description was no exaggeration, for public acclaim was so great that, after all the scheduled performances were over, an encore performance was scheduled. It marked the first time any such encore presentation has ever taken place in the 31-year history of North Scott High School.

"We have so many talented kids and this play just seemed perfect for them," Mrs. Jacobs said.

"Godspell," originally presented Feb. 10, 11 and 12 with the special encore presentation on Feb. 19, tells the story of the Gospel according to St. Matthew in modern song and dance.

Students and adults alike came away from the performances with glowing remarks about the talent of the North Scott thespians and the energy and message presented in "Godspell."

"I almost never tell my mom she should see anything at school that I'm not in," said one senior girl, "but I told her she'd better see 'Godspell.' It's that good."

The modern musical uses a playground as a set and dramatizes the teachings of Christ as he brings the story of God's love to common man through his parables.

In the second act, a more serious tone is apparent as the passion of Christ -- The Last Supper and the Crucifixion -- are staged, but the conclusion revels in the ultimate victory over death in the Resurrection.

Tickets for dinner and show were $10 each. Tickets for the Sunday afternoon presentation (no meal) were $4 each.

THE SODA POPPERS were a big hit, too, with their dinner pre-show featuring songs from "Fiddler on the Roof," "Pippin," "Footloose," "Guys and Dolls," "Hair," "Little Shop of Horrors," "Annie," "Big River," "Les Miserables," and "Grease."

The Soda Poppers were directed by Andrea Gale (choreography) and Jesse Peterson (programmer). Mike Reese provided the accompaniment and Leslie Patzer provided additional choreography for "Footloose."

The Soda Poppers included: Rob Agren, Kelli Andresen, Amy Bouril, Tim Cook, Jeff Cordts, Donna Noel, Wendy Patzer, Brant Peitersen, Jennifer Petersen, Shawn Schroeder, Matt Teeples and Jenny Weise.

THE DINNER menu featured hors d'oeuvres, tossed salad, rolls, chicken parmesan, beef Stroganoff, rice, green beens almondine, Florentine vegetables, homemade desserts, milk and coffee.

SING A SONG --Jason Bauer, Brant Peitersen, Angie Case, Janeen Heiman, Mike Reese, Darcey Timmerman, Andrea Gale, Janeen Fowler and Augie Ferguson perform "Light of the World."

of teenage pregnancy and teenage suicide are not pleasant -- especially if you're a teenager, or if you're the parent of a teenager, or if you teach teenagers -- but they are important subjects. They are, in fact, matters of life and death.

"One Moment to Live," the one-act play presented by Readers Theater, dramatizes the pressure of being a teenager today and the importance of being aware of clues that a teenager may be on the brink of suicide. Brilliant performances were turned in by Janeen Heiman, Brant Peitersen, Jesse Peterson, Andrea Gale, Mike Reese and Angie Case. North Scott student audiences sat hushed throughout the performance.

Choral Readers Amy King, Kelli Hoag, Kym McFaddin, Amy Birtell, Karla Ferguson, Krystal Litwiller, Jenny Dugan and Student Director Jami Van Ryswyk presented, "The Little Blue Engine," at District contest in Monticello.

Angie Case and Mike Reese were outstanding in their ensemble presentation titled, "Just One Day." Angie played the part of a pregnant teen trying to decide what she and the baby's father, Mike, should do now. They split up weeks ago. Marriage is out. Adoption? Maybe. But Mike says abortion is the only real alternative.

In "Voices from the High School," written by a group of Ohio High School students, two girls --best friends -- are about to try-out for the cheerleaders squad. But an unwanted pregnancy complicates things. Andrea Gale and Amy Bouril were super in these tense, contemporary roles.

Providing an enjoyable counterpoint to the realities of the late 1980s, the Readers Theater presented a crazy look at "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory." JoAnne Wilson was wonderful as Willy Wonka, the slightly crazed guru of chocolate who leads some of the kids on a whacky tour of his circus funhouse of a factory. Helping achieve a high level of humor were Dan Morey, John Albertson, Jay Gale, Leslie Patzer, Amy Bouril, Jeff Lassiter and Michelle Skadal.

Take note of excellence

N. S. All-Staters

orth Scott students were once again well- represented by All-State choices in the fine arts. Heading the list was the North Scott Band with a school record 11 all-state selections from the total of 283 selected state-wide. Seven North Scott band members were all-staters last year.

The members of the All-State Band performed at Hilton Coliseum in Ames on the campus of Iowa State University. The concert was televised live by the Iowa Public Television network.

Earning all-state Jazz Band honors for North Scott were Darcey Timmerman, Wendy Hamann, Gyle Smith, Mark Anderson and Troy Anderson.

Several outstanding members of the North Scott Drama Department were also expected to earn All-State honors, but those results were unavailable in time to meet the yearbook deadline.

North Scott's All-State Chorus members for 1989 were Augie Ferguson, Mike Reese, Janeen Fowler, Carrie Sherrill and Janeen Heiman.

ALL-STATE CHORUS - Janeen Fowler, Janeen Heiman, Carrie Sherrill, Augie Ferguson, Mike Reese.

CLASSROOM ARTISTS – Art springs up all over North Scott High School. In this case, it takes over the white board in a D-Hall classroom.

HARD WORK - After a tough day at Marching Band practice, Missy Kay tells Jason McKirahan, "You can lean on me."

PASSING THROUGH D-HALL -- a routine for seniors and other North Scott students -- but a routine that seniors will never experience again.

"I shall be telling this with a sigh Somewhere ages and ages hence: Two roads diverged in a wood, and I --I took the one less traveled by, And that has made all the difference."

-- Robert Frost, 1916

'We are proud of you' honors N.S. students

HOT HONORS -- These scenes from the 1988 "We are proud of you" and show that The Pit is a hot place to be honored in late May.

The aud recognizes many students who win scholarships and a multitude of other awards and honors during the school year.

"Far better it is to dare mighty things, to win glorious triumphs, even though checkered by failure, than to take rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much, because they live in the gray twilight that knows not victory nor defeat."

Mr. Anderson instructs the '89 Jazz Band on the finer points of the Swing Show music.

'I GOT RHYTHM' theme of '89 Swing Show

azz and pop music, exciting choreography, an energetic and humorous MC plus the superior talents of dozens of North Scott students were the ingredients that made the 1989 Swing Show one to remember.

'I Got Rhythm' made for exciting entertainment featuring North Scott's reknowned Jazz Band, Swing Choir, Chamber Singers and Swing Show Dancers.

The annual Swing Show provides an opportunity for North Scott students to display their abilities in a wide variety of band music, dance routines and vocals.

Mr. Dan Anderson, Mr. Bill Kessinger, instrumental music, and Mr. Keith Haan, vocal music, once again put together a memorable package of student entertainment that showcased the unusually high level of achievement at North Scott High School.

DANCIN ' -- These dancers added some liveliness to the 1989 Swing Show with their fancy steps: Sheri Catlin, Lesley Hamilton, Renee Nestler, Amy Bader and Megan Schirman.

Birkhofer heads team

When asked the question, "How important do you feel math is?", senior Jeff Bender responded, "It educates us more than we think. You use it more in life and it enables you to grow and realize you inner feelings."

Math courses are a very important part in our preparation for higher education or the work force. North Scott students are extremely lucky to have well trained and good instructors to teach the main concept of learning. Along with this, we have a chance to go through Calculus.

This year there are forty-nine students enrolled in Analysis and ten students enrolled in Calculus. These numbers, compared with past years, are about the same.

Due to the requirement of math through Algebra II or a math composite of 26 on your ACT, to get into most colleges, students feel that one or two more years of math definitely can't hurt.

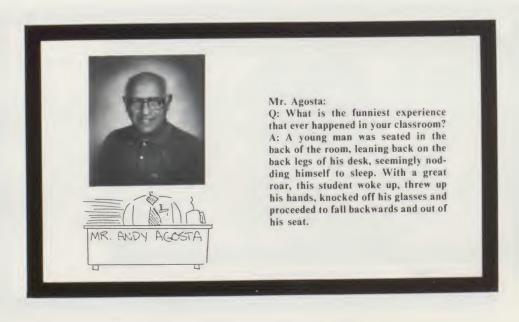

HISTORY IN

Everyday there is "history in the making". When you wake up in the morning, you do not know what to expect during the course of the day. Each year at North Scott brings new changes. This year we have a new principal, Dr. Ratigan. In the new curriculum there is humanities and geography. There is more emphasis being placed on history now. North Scott is following this by updating the curriculum and adding new courses.

Another concern in schools is their English department. North Scott offers many classes to help prepare students for college and everyday speaking. As a freshman and sophomore you are required to take short lit., long lit., communications, and writing lab. As a junior and senior you have a large variety of classes to choose from. There is 19th and 20th century lit., public speaking, advanced composition, American novel, and popular novel. Four years of English definitely can't hurt, even if you are not planning on attending college.

Chrissy Casten and Kay Byers show how much fun public speaking can be.

Craig Perry, Mike Ruggeberg, and Tony Salas take time out of Spanish III to say "cheese".

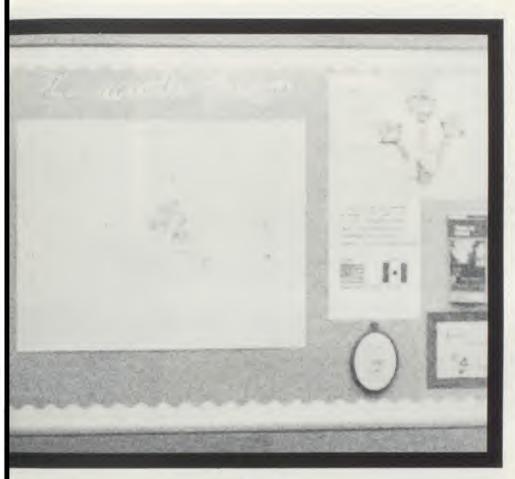

Connie Moore and Melanie DeCock found another use for their Spanish book besides for homework.

TONGUE

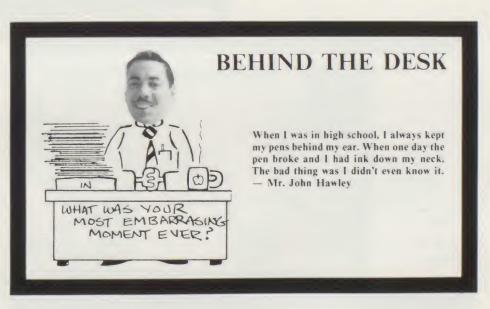

Why is knowing a foreign language important? Many of us as freshmen thought of that same question, when planning our four year plans. According to students enrolled in another language, there are many reasons. For one, it broadens your knowledge, and for another some colleges are requiring some experience in a foreign language. At North Scott we offer Spanish and French. Most people feel you may never use a foreign language, but by knowing another language you are able to travel to other countries and understand the culture, and what the people are saying.

Studying a foreign language isn't all work and no play. There is a Foreign Language Club, that all language students can belong to.

Knowing another language may not seem important now, but later in your life you will use what you've learned one way or another.

Adios or, in english, goodbye!

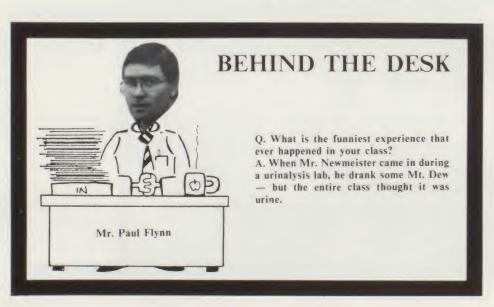

MR. NEWMEISTER

Sciences, along with mathematics and social studies, play a very important role in our education. At North Scott, there is a large variety of courses you can choose from. As a freshman, you have to take either Science I or II. As a sophomore, there is biology. Next in line is chemistry, physics, and Advanced Placement Biology. A.P. Biology is a college course offered to high school students in order to acquire college credit hours. At the end of the year, students have the choice of taking the placement test. If you score either a 3,4, or 5, you get science credit hours towards college. Science is the building block for many occupations. For example, there are engineering, medicine, and research. Without science, we wouldn't be able to find cures for diseases and illnesses. Science has come a long way, but it is just beginning. Someday there will be cures for AIDS and other deadly diseases. This goal is within our reach with our technology. You never can tell what the future may bring.

New Discipline Policy

Saturday suspensions were brought back to North Scott High School this year at the suggestion of new Principal Gary Ratigan and with the support of the faculty and approval of the school board. Saturday suspensions had been used several years ago, but had then been dropped.

The Saturday sessions were re-instituted with the idea that students who required disciplinary action should be forced to come to school on Saturday rather than being suspended during regular school hours. The new policy requires students to serve the number of Saturdays necessary to equal the length of the suspension that the administration set.

Saturday sessions are monitored by volunteers from the North Scott faculty who are paid an hourly rate. The sessions begin at 8 a.m. and end at 11:30 a.m. Serving this three-and-a-half hour period on Saturday morning would equal one day of suspension.

Area news media gave extensive coverage to the program. Several North Scott students were interviewed by local TV stations.

The system seemed to be effective, according to teachers, adminstrators and students.

A Small But Noticeable Change

Those students who utilized the first ten minutes of school last year for sleeping in were forced to change their habits when the administration moved homeroom from 8:10 to after first hour. This switch was made for two primary reasons: to help discourage students from skipping the ten-minute time slot, and to help guarantee that all students had a chance to hear the daily announcements, fill out surveys, and vote on several occasions. Although most students didn't usually care one way or the other, it's obvious what the faculty prefers.

Mrs. Smith utilizes the homeroom period to finish up some work.

Debbie Rosmilso, Tracy Schneckloth, Janel Skaala, and Laura Schnoor use homeroom to do some work, while Jason Rubsamen catches up on some sleep. Mike Ruggeburg, Bill Schwarz, Nick Runde, Mike Schneckloth, and Cris Roesler compare their homework.

New faculty and student teachers

"I like it at North Scott because I'm getting to know people and learn new jobs," said Karen Frieden, one of the new faces around the NS School District this year. Karen Friedman lives in Park View and enjoys being an office aide because she lives in the area and knows a great deal of the kids at school.

Another addition to the faculty is Lorraine Young. Lorraine worked here once before, so she's familiar with the high school. Her job involves helping students locate various materials in the library they might need to get their work done.

Marcia Kleppe is a very caring counselor who is new to our district. "I don't think I'd like to be anywhere in the building, she said, "Because I've worked as a special worker in the past and I enjoy working with students on a personal basis." Mrs. Kleppe earned both her B.A. and her Masters at the University of Iowa. She really enjoys North Scott and everyone at the school.

Not only were there new aides but new student teachers as well. Mr. Dan Nowlan is attending St. Ambrose. He was a student teacher in the history department. He was with us for the first semester. Mr. Nowlan resides in Eldridge and likes the district very much.

One of our student teachers was Doug Holtz. He came to assist Mr. Anderson and Mr. Kessinger, especially with the marching band. He chose NS for his student teaching because it's close to Augustana, where he attends college. He also like our band program. "The teachers are great and have experience that I need." After this year he will be a certified teacher and hopes to find a teaching position in instrumental music.

We even had a new teacher this year. Mr. Hawley, who teaches Spanish, previously taught in Geneseo, Illinois. He attended UNI for four years and acquired his B.A. Mr. Hawley chose NS because of the fine foreign language program. He lives in Davenport and liked the opportunity to come back to Iowa so he could be closer to his family and teach at our high school. Not only a teacher, Mr. Hawley is also the assistant coach of Varsity Boys' Basketball.

All of the new people this year have made teachers' and students' work easier. The new faculty and student teachers are greatly appreciated at North Scott.

New faculty members include Mr. Hawley, Mr. Nowlan, and Mrs. Kleppe.

Karen Frieden moved from the junior high to the high school.

SCENE IN ACTION

Student Congress

"I'm involved in Student Congress because I enjoy working with people and it gives me a great opportunity to develop my leadership skills." — Melissa Madden

The main function of Student Congress is to give students a chance to experience the challenges of leadership. Students must present a petition and give a speech to their class.

Behind-the-scenes activities of Student Congress include Home-coming, blood drives, Lujack-KIIK hunger drive, new student/teacher luncheon, and as messengers of ideas to principals and other administrators.

The main function of National Honor Society is to honor students who excel academically and who are involved in school activities.

NHS is responsible for freshman orientation in the fall.

In order to be eligible for National Honor Society, students must have at least a 3.4 GPA and then be selected by the teachers.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) gives each person a chance to meet new people and to share the word of God with them. Members pay a $3 fee which allows them to participate in retreats.

Many people work behind the scenes to arrange the regular meetings that feature singing, huddle groups, videos or a guest speaker. FCA cleans the Lancer stadium as a fund-raiser and sells candy so it can continue its program of Christian fellowship.

Yearbook production

Quote: "I am involved in the Shield as co-editor because I want to do my best to record the events of this year as they really happened from an unbiased standpoint."

Wendy Hamann

No one could possibly realize what a challenge producing the yearbook is unless they have lived through it. It is more than just drawing squares on graph paper. Some of the numerous jobs that go on Behind the Scenes vary from taking surveys and pictures, writing copy, and selling advertisements to putting layouts on the computer. No matter what the job they take on, the staff of the Shield is continually busy. The only requirement to be a member of this staff is to be willing to put forth long hours and much needed hard work. The staff of the North Scott Shield has one goal: to do their best to represent everyone fairly and equally. The production of this book is done by the students, and for the students, the way a yearbook should be.

HOURS ON

"I am involved in the Multi-Occupation program because it is a good way to make money and get work experience while going to school." - Linette Paustian

If you wish to gain work experience while going to school you should be a member of the Multi-Occupation Program of North Scott High School. Through the Job Service and Mrs. Maxfield, you can get jobs at such places as the Rock Island Arsenal, doctors offices, or many other businesses. After going to class for 50 minutes each day you then go to work in the afternoon. You must work at least 15 hours a week to be involved in this class. If you wish to be involved in a program that will help you get a very good and maybe even a long term job, you should see you guidance counselor or Mrs. Maxfield. The members of this group definitely demonstrate their skills Behind the Desk.

"I am a library helper because it is something to do when you have closed study hall and no homework. It also keeps you busy and it is kind of fun." -JoAnn West

Behind the Scenes in the library you find the helpers putting plastic covers on books, working on the reference materials and putting all of the new material where it belongs. The job is hard and at times it may be frustrating. They try to take care of all of the books because they are for everyone to enjoy. If you want to be a library helper all you have to do is talk to the librarian and if they need help, you have got yourself a job.

SPREADING

"I am involved in the Lance because it provides me with 'real life' situations like meeting deadlines and dealing with people. It also makes me a better communicator." — Janeen Fowler

The Lance is a forum for the students and the faculty of the North Scott School District. This newspaper is published nine times a year — once every month. While there are no specific requirements to be a member of the staff, you have to be willing to be a very hard worker. Behind the Scenes you can see the staff of this publication eating tons of food and goofing around, but they are always very hard at work. Many hours are spent on the computers, writing and editing. The members of the Lance staff feel that despite all of the hard work this is an exciting organization to belong to.

As the Lance staff listens, editor Janeen Fowler lets everyone in on the plans for the next issue.

BUILDING

"I am a member of FFA so that I will be able to learn more about agriculture. This will enable the study of agriculture to be easier in college." - Dave Lafrenz

There are many things that go on Behind the Scenes of the organization of the Future Farmers of America. There are many contests to be in and many fun and recreational activities that this group participates in. Some activities that go on Behind the Scenes of FFA are fruit sales, judging, leadership contest, basketball, softball, and Food for America. Members of this group delegate at the National Convention. FFA is a non-profit organization and the only requirement to be in FFA is to be currently enrolled in an agriculture class.

"I'm involved in the Industrial Arts Association because it is a fun club and I enjoy the competitions this program offers." — Eric Heeren

If you have had one quarter of an industrial arts class, you may join the Industrial Arts Association. This club is involved in many fundraisers and competitions. Club members also attend a state exposition in the spring.

Behind-the-scenes, members work hard to raise money and to practice for the expo.

Creative Days

"I am involved in Art Club to gain knowledge of the different aspects of art, to be creative at all levels of art. I also enjoy the fact that Art Club is mainly run by the members."

Art Club is a club that is there for the students so that they may gain art experience outside of school. This club gets together twice a month to discuss different projects of contests that they may enter. Behind the Scenes these members go on picnics and field trips to art museums. They also go to different colleges with outstanding art departments and attend Visiting Artists programs. When there are art things to be done for the school or otherwise, the Art Club is called upon to do them. With all of this, these busy members still find time to go out to eat and to movies with other people who share their same interest-ART.

"I am involved in being a trainer because it is something that is fun even though you have to work hard all of the time." - Kris Felsman

When you come in as a new trainer you watch a lot. You have to learn how things are run and where things go. Mr. Flynn teaches the trainers taping and how to handle a wide variety of injuries. The trainers are there before, during, and after practice and at all of the games in case of unexpected injury. Behind the Scenes the trainers tape, and give treatments to all of the players that need it. They give all of their time to keeping the players healthy and free of injury. While being a trainer is a fun and exciting job, all will agree that it takes a lot of effort and a lot of hours.

Quote: "I am involved in the FLC because I enjoy speaking Spanish. It is fun to learn about other cultures and of course, there is a lot of good food at our parties." — Curt Whisler.

The members of FLC meet periodically and have fun learning about foreign languages. The only requirement is to show up at the meetings and be involved in foreign language class. Behind the Scenes, FLC makes decisions on how to involve foreign languages in our schools. They help a lot during International Week in deciding what activities to plan. Ask any member why they are involved in FLC and the response you will hear most is. "Because it's fun!"

WE THE PEOPLE . .

"I am involved in Close-up because it is an organization that tries to make young people more aware of what goes on in our government. We are the future of this country and we should know how it is run before it is our turn."

Melanie DeCock

Close-Up is an organization that informs and shows young people how the U.S. government is run. The only requirement to be in Close-up is to have an interest in how the government works. The Close-Up group also takes a trip to Washington. This year it will be in April for one week. While there, the group will be able to view monuments and attend a session of the Supreme Court. The Close-up group stays in the area hotels, giving them the chance to meet other Close-Up students from other areas. Behind the Scenes, members of Close-Up bring bakes goods for bake sales, sell candy bars, and participate in bowl-a-thons. The money that each member earns goes toward paying for their trip. Close-Up is a very active organization and one in which all members are proud to be a part of.

t was a fierce battle. Twelve teams representing area high schools sought victory. That's the way it was on Feb. 11, 1989, when North Scott's Academic Decathlon team took the floor at Pleasant Valley High School.

All morning long Coach Randy Denner's charges took on question after question in Scantron tests covering the humanities, social studies, economics, math, science -- the entire range of human knowledge.

After a brief halftime break and pep talk, the Lancers braced themselves for the "Super Quiz." In this competition, the contestants are divided into three groups based on grade point average. Each is called to the stage and grilled with four questions. Only the great survive.

Then comes the gruelling speech and interview sessions. And when it's all over, the team members are exhausted, but they know they've given it their best shot. All those Wednesday practice sessions after school have paid off in knowledge and the thrill of human competition.

MORNING STAR...

"...is the name of a medieval weapon, but the term also signifies the awakening freshness and potential of young artists and writers at North Scott."

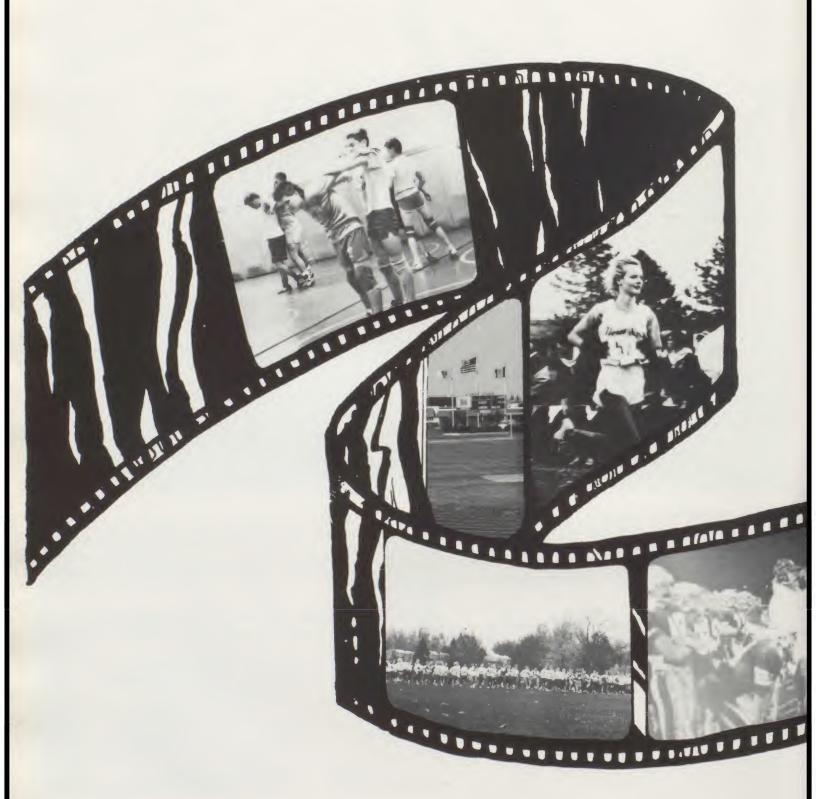

That's how the Morning Star describes itself and, judging from the publication itself, it is an apt description.

The 1988-89 Morning Star, North Scott High School's award-winning literary magazine, was issued on the Ides of March this year. It was the sixth edition of creative student expression.

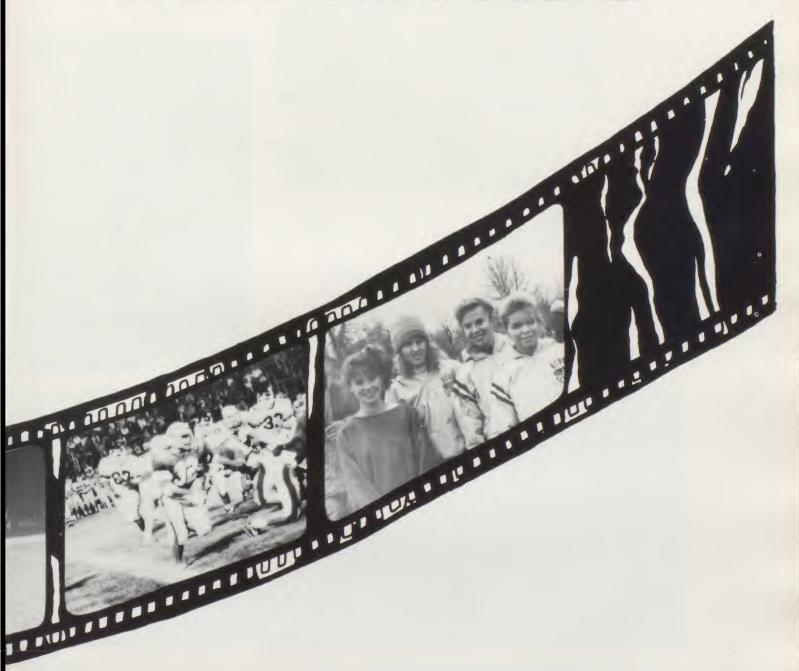

All previous issues of the Morning Star had been typewritten. This year, however, the new MacIntosh Desktop Publishing system housed in The Lance office was used to produce the magazine. Its new, professionally typeset look is stunning.

Co-editors Kelli Hoag and Amy Birtell invested many, many after-school hours to do the desktop typesetting and layout.

Jami Van Ryswyk is the assistant editor. Mr. Gene Conrad and Mr. Denny Hennigan, English teachers, are the advisers.

THE SPORTS SCENE

Defending champs go 42-10

"We had a great season, falling one game short of the state tournament," summed up Lancers' Head Softball Coach Denny Johnson. "I honestly felt that if we could have gotten back to state we had an excellent chance of repeating as state champs."

The North Scott softball team fell one game short of a chance to make it two straight state titles when they lost the Regional final to Burlington in a heart-breaker, 2-1.

"It's tough to repeat," Johnson said. "The kids did exactly as I asked them. It's one of the best years and one of the most fun years I have experienced as a coach. And the parents were great."

A great nucleus returns for the '89 summer season and Johnson says, "It'll be mighty fine in '89."

Jodi Osterberg was named MVP of the '88 team and earned first team all-state honors. Heather Reedy was named "Most Improved." Heather Fuller was fourth team all-state and Mickey Bourn and Chris Brehmer earned elite special mention.

North Scott finished 42-10 overall and 14-4 in the conference, good for a cochampionship. This grimace on Heather Fuller's face tells the story of pitching.

The 1988 boys tennis team finished the spring season with a disappointing 0-9 record. The team of Coach Theresa Speth was led by Robb Kapinski with a 3-9 record. Kapinski held down the No. 1 singles spot.

Jeff Gates was 2-10 in the No. 4 spot while Ryan Riewerts joined Kapinski to tally a 3-5 record in No. 1 doubles play.

The JV squad was led by Craig Spotts with a 3-7 record.

Kapinski was named varsity MVP, Riewerts was named "Most Improved" and Corey Yetter received the "Most Dedicated" award.

Varsity Track Coach Deac Ryan called the '88 season "the most rewarding" since joining the Mississippi Athletic Conference.

Led by Darren Smith's first place wins at both the Drake Relays and in the State Track Meet in the long jump, the Lancers performed solidly all season long.

Smith earned the MVP award. Tom Loussaert, Artie Matje and Smith were tri-captains. Mike Abbas and Darelle Nigh were chosen as "Most Improved" and Nick Welter won the Bill Heiker Memorial Award.

Long road for Lancers

When Dean Bruson agreed to come back to high school coaching and take over the Lancers' boys varsity program, he knew it wouldn't be easy. But he may not have known exactly how difficult it would be.

After opening the season with two wins in their first three games, it looked like North Scott might be in for a good season. That early success, however, didn't last.

The Lancers won only two regular-season games while losing 17, the last 16 in a row.

The Lancers played 10th-ranked Maquoketa in the first round of the tournament.

Despite the lack of wins, Coach Brunson, who was assisted by foreign language teacher John Hawley, saw some positive signs.

He credited Travis Ralfs, Shawn Hyer, Eric Masterson, Sophomores Ryan Fier and Jeff Johannsen, Mike McKeown, Scott Stapleton, Mike Abbas, Mike Ruggeberg and J.R. Randall with steady improvement during the season.

The Lancers had perhaps the youngest team in the Mississippi Athletic Conference this year and it made it tough to win, but maybe it will mean better things to come for Lancer boys basketball.

Final Record: 5-9 in Mississippi Athletic Conference, 6-12 overall THE SOPHOMORE basketball team battled hard all year, but didn't win as often as it would have liked.

Part of the sophomore troubles could be traced to the fact that two top players were moved up to the varsity.

Jeff Johannsen was promoted early in the year and Ryan Fier joined him on the varsity about mid-season. Both made solid contributions to the Lancer varsity but it left the sophs without a good deal of firepower.

Nonetheless, several sophs came through with fine seasons. Head Sophomore Coach Mike Wallace praised the improvement of Glenn Gerardy. "Nobody works harder or wants to win more than Glenn," Wallace said. "His steady improvement this season has been fun to watch."

Other impressive seasons were turned in by Terry Maschmann, Brad Metzger and Jon Lange.

Freshman boys basketball sets pace with 9-9 record

The freshman boys basketball team suffered a number of close losses that would have made its record really outstanding, but even so the team managed to finish 9-9, the best record of all North Scott boys basketball teams for the season.

Even without Brad Metzger, who was moved up to the sophomore team, the freshmen showed a great deal of talent, including establishing new ninth grade records of most points in a game (99 vs. Smart) and an individual scoring record was set by Chris Ratigan when he nailed 39 points.

Among other highlights of the season were big wins over Young and Bettendorf and disappointing losses to Muscatine and Clinton.

The Lancers' "B" team finished with a 9-3 record losing only to Assumption, Muscatine and Young.

"This year's team was very enjoyable to coach," said Head Coach Delmar Ryan. "Our record is no indication of the quality team we were. We beat the two best teams on our schedule late in the season. Everyone worked hard in practices and the team showed steady improvement."

North Scott's "B" team finished with a 9-3 record.

It was a year of ups and downs, a year of "might-have-beens," another challenging year in Iowa's supreme football conference for the Lancers.

Defending state champion Bettendorf was a rude opener for North Scott with the Bulldogs taking a 43-3 win at Bettendorf.

Another Top Ten foe was next on the agenda when Clinton came to Lancer Stadium for the home opener. North Scott, under the direction of Head Coach Aaron Van Dyke nearly pulled the upset, losing in the final minutes 18-14.

Another close loss was handed the Lancers when Davenport Central scored in the last 30 seconds to pull out another 18-14 win. The Lancers came back the following week to nip Davenport North 10-7 in overtime at home to tally that first win.

The final record was 3-6 with a 38-7 thumping of Davenport Assumption being the highlight.

Soccer is a thrilling game that combines the physical contact and excitement of football with the exertion of track and field that we all remember from grade school. It requires skill, stamina, concentration, but most importantly, teamwork.

Soccer at North Scott is still fairly new and not as popular as some of the other sports we have, but we do anticipate even larger crowds at the games this season.

The conference we are in is one of the toughest in the state. This conference has produced tough teams like Bettendorf and Muscatine, which are usually always in the state finals.

Practices will have to be tough this year to be able to compete in the conference we are in. Anyone interested in soccer is encouraged to start practicing early.

OLLEYBALL

NS SPIKERS FALL SHORT

The girls had a prosperous season this year with 20-11 overall. The girls had a great year, even though they came up short in semi-final play when they were defeated by Davenport North. Coach Deb Menke will miss her seniors next year such as Michelle Bourn, first team all conference, Rachel Ortiz, and Lauri Harsh, honorable mention. Darcy Martel wasn't able to play much this season because of injury, but was a vital asset to the team. Carrie Iverson was also made first team.

Mrs. Menke doesn't have too much to feel bad about because she will still have junior Jeni Claeys who received second team all conference, and will be a valuable leader next year. Other returning players are Sarah Siemsen, Brenda Iverson, Peggy Ranson, Crystal Litwiller, Susan Dobbe, and Jill Brandon.

FROSH SPIKERS BOAST 18-3 YEAR

The 1988 Freshmen volleyball squad had an excellent year, finishing at 18-3 this season. They played exciting games against DeWitt, Williams, and Smart, plus some tough losses against Bettendorf, Muscatine, and Pleasent Valley.

Coach Dale Lacina awarded those who proved to be valuable players. This year, the awards went to Tricia Graham for Most Improved Player, Cindy Loussaert for Best Digger, Rachel Horsley for Team Spirit, and Jen Halen for Most Valuable Player.

SOPHS TIE FOR 1ST IN MAC CONFERENCE

The 1988 Sophomore volleyball squad had an exciting season, finishing 7-1 in the MAC and 18-3-2 overall. The teams only conference loss came from Bettendorf. These spikers proved well at this years invitationals, by taking first at the Wilton Invitational, and our/own Lancer Invitational.

The girls shared the MAC title with Bettendorf, but hopefully they will be the sole possessor of the state championship, in the next two years.

Girls basketball has year that 'didn't quite click'

DEB MENKE brought many great victories to North Scott High School in her role as head varsity basketball coach, including a 1985 appearance in the State Tournament, but things never got rolling this season.

The team was inconsistent and lost several close games. And just when they seemed to be coming together near the end of the year, a frigidly cold shooting night from the field (12-55) doomed their efforts against Davenport West in the tournament opener.

Ashley Crow set several records including most points in a season (312), most points scored in one game (27) and highest-scoring average per game (17.3). Ashley earned the Most Valuable Player award. The Most Improved Player award was presented to Alisa Ulloa.

Head Coach Ken Nevenhoven summed up the season by saying, "Our accomplishments this season were due to the fact that this team played so well as a unit with each player complementing the others."

Benson, Lamont and Ohl reach State

Dual season highlighted by first-ever victory over Bettendorf

DES MOINES WAS the destination when the season started, and for three Lancer wrestlers, that coveted trip to state became a reality.

At the District meet in Clinton on Feb. 18, Craig Lamont (171 pounds) led the Lancer trio by winning the District title and his second straight trip to Des Moines for the State Finals Feb. 23-25. Joining him this year were Craig Ohl (152) and Mike Benson (189). Ohl and Benson joined Lamont as District champions.

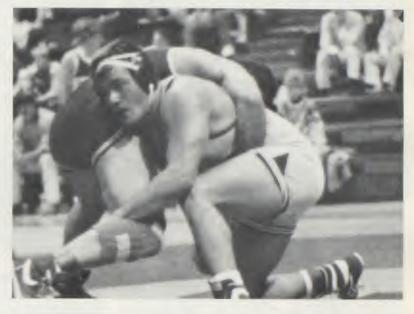

Lamont posted a regular season record of 25-1 with Benson right behind at 24-1 and Ohl coming in with an impressive 21-4.

Those three seniors formed a powerful nucleus for a North Scott wrestling squad that lacked numbers but still achieved some outstanding success.

Other top individuals this season were Larry Thein (7-4 at 103); Jim Klemme (12-9-2 at 112); Mat Youngers (15-10-1 at 135); Matt Jamison (11-6-1 at 140); and Josh Moeller (11-14 at 275).

Head Coach Jeff Newmeister led his team to yet another first division finish in the tough Mississippi Athletic Conference. The Lancers' dual meet record was 4-6 overall, including the brilliant 36-24 whipping of Bettendorf.

Freshman wrestlers enjoy good year of preparation for the varsity

This was an excellent learning year for the Lancers' freshman wrestling team. Many of the individuals showed potential to become outstanding members of the varsity squad before their North Scott careers are over.

Some of the standouts, according to Head Coach Clint Long, included Brian Lindaman, Ryan Iossi and Mark Pischke.

Coach Long said he was impressed with all team members' hard work and the effort they put into wrestling.

He said he believes several of the young Lancers will be top wrestlers if they continue to work hard and develop their skills and techniques. FRESHMAN WRESTLING --(Front) Shawn Beard, Hans Krueger, Brad Rathjen, Wes George, Chad Snyder, Brian Lindaman, Andy Fisher.

Mrs. Marcia Wilkins coached her varsity girls golfers to an 8-1 record overall and a 7-1 league standing, placing second in the league. The 1988 season was the first time the North Scott girls golf team advanced to the state meet, where Rhonda DeCock finished eighth in district play. DeCock and Becky Brunson, both seniors last year, were recipients of the Most Valuable Player awards, while Heather Reedy was voted the Most Improved Player. First-year golfers Amy Dix and Becky Schroeder showed promise for years to come. As Mrs. Wilkins summed it up, "Great season, great kids!"

Rhonda DeCock displays good form on the course.

Schneckloth to state!

The fall golf season was a rebuilding one for the North Scott boys, but it didn't stop Mike Schneckloth from setting a Lancer first. Schneckloth became the first North Scott boys golfer to advance to the state meet in the 30 years of the high school's existence. And he not only participated, but fired rounds of 77 and 79 to take home an outstanding 10th place finish after scoring the runnerup spot at District's.

Overall, the team finished with a 5-10-1 dual meet record with an 8th place Mississippi Athletic Conference finish and a 10th place team finish in the District meet.

Schneckloth, on his way to state, also set a school record for the best meet average at 39.17, breaking the mark previously held by Tim Albers (1986).

STATE CHAMPS!

All the endless miles and miles of running finally paid off. After two years of staying home the weekend of State, the North Scott girls cross country team finally accomplished what they have been working for the past four years. They won the 1988 State Cross Country meet at Veenker golf course in Ames, Iowa. North Scott had a measly 54 points, while Bettendorf, the favored team, was far behind with 69. The team consisted of four returning seniors- Connie Moore, Tracy Schneckloth, Debbie Rosmilso, and Christa Coe, and two girls new to the sport. Chris Brehmer, a former volleyball player, went out her senior year. Barb Petersen, a sophomore, was also a new addition to the team. Coach Dennis Johnson admitted that early in the season he didn't know if the team had a shot at the state title. Johnson told his team Saturday, October 28, "You didn't win this meet today; you won it this summer." Christa Coe comments, "It was a great season, and I'm glad it ended like it did."

Senior Chris Brehmer races for the finish line.

This is the form and effort that helped Tracy Schneckloth (left) and Connie Moore pace the Lancers to the state cross country title.

Flashing the smile of state champions right after their victory are Connie Moore, Chris Brehmer, Deb Rosmilso, Barb Petersen, Tracy Schneckloth and Christa Coe.

Coach Denny Johnson helps Christa Coe loosen up on a cold and windy day for the state meet in Ames.

Connie Moore gets mentally ready for a run at the state title.

A state-ly affair.

The North Scott Boys Cross Country surprised themselves and Coach Rich Madsen, at least a little, by earning a spot in the state meet at Ames.

Running on a blustery day at the Veenkar Golf Course, the state title escaped the Lancers, but they did come up with a fine 10th-place finish. Iowa City West won the team title.

North Scott was led by Nick Welter, who finished an impressive eighth with a time of 16:17 for the 5K course. Teammate Jason Hamann was 10th in 16:26.

Noise! Let's make more NOISE!

Teamwork combines with school spirit. Responsibility becomes duty. Hard work is accepted. Sacrifice is understood. All these ingredients folded together make up the rousing squad of Lancer cheerleaders who raised North Scott crowds to new heights of noise.

HOMECOMING SPIRIT — The long, grayjacketed line of Lancer cheerleaders get into the spirit of things as they lead the North Scott crowd in spirited pep rally cheers at Lancer Stadium.

IN MEMORIAM

Nick Ash

The North Scott High School community was deeply saddened by the death of Nick Ash, a member of the Class of '89, in a snowmobile accident on Feb. 14.

Ash was an active member of the North Scott chapter of Future Farmers of America.

Nick enjoyed hunting, fishing, motorcycles and was also a member of the North Scott tennis team.

He is survived by his parents, Arnie and Melody Ash, and two sisters, Nicole and Tara.

A memorial fund has been established.

RUSS LORENZ, a former North Scott student, died on Jan. 31.

He enjoyed camping and fishing. Russ had transferred to Davenport West High School last November.

COLOPHON -

The 1989 Shield is volume 31 in the series of yearbooks published by North Scott High School students. The issue contains 200 pages printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing Division, Topeka, Kansas. Ed Last was the Jostens representative.

The cover is a two-color laminated lithograph. Art work was created by North Scott students Mark Anderson and Gwen Claeys and refined by the Jostens art department.

The book was printed on 80-pound glossy paper. Most of the candid and group photos were taken, processed, and printed by North Scott High School students as part of the Yearbook Production class.

Main body type is Times with most headlines set in either Times or Helvetica. Cover headline and end sheet copy is set in Broadway Engraved.

The 1989 Shield sold for $20 per copy and was prepared for delivery in May. 825 copies were printed.

The yearbook was produced by the Yearbook Production class with the help and cooperation of the administration, faculty, staff, students and patrons of North Scott High School.

A special thanks must go to Bill Tubbs, publisher, and Scott Campbell, Editor, of the North Scott Press for their cooperation in providing important photos.

And, finally, our appreciation to Mr. Len Cockman, the veteran yearbook adviser, who was so gracious, wise and non-judgmental in offering advice and suggestions when asked - and that was often.

Producing this yearbook has been a lot of hard work, but it has also been fun. I've learned so much about vearbooks and journalism in general. And my typing skills have improved greatly. Last spring when I was asked to be a coeditor of the 1989 Shield I gladly accepted. I wanted to be involved in recording the events and saving the memories of my senior year.

The first week of August (you remember, the 110 degree week) Wendy and I headed to Iowa State for a journalism workshop. We ate dorm food, lived in a four foot, waffle-ceilinged room, and sat through ten hours of lecture each day so we would have the experience to put together this book. It was at this workshop that we came up with our theme Behind The Scenes.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the following people: Wendy, for putting up with me and my jokes; you are a great friend. Jerel, for knowing what to do when we didn't; I hope you make a lot of MONEY some day. Mr. Kielkopf, for working diligently on the computer. My family and friends, for supporting me, and the entire staff who were always willing to help out.

It is my hope that you enjoy and appreciate this 31st edition of the Shield now and whenever you look back on the best days of your life.

When I agreed to be an editor for this year's yearbook, I had no idea what kind of work would lie ahead. Many hours were spent fighting a dying typewriter, chopping pictures into lots of little rectangles, and trying to come up with interesting new ways to present the same things. Behind the Scenes really does describe where most of the work actually takes place. There really is more to putting this book together than one could possibly believe.

I spent more time in that little apricotcolored room than I did in my own bathroom. I'd like to thank my family and friends for putting up with my bad moods due to lack of sleep, Mark and Jerel for their demented sense of humor and work on menial jobs, Mr. Kielkopf for his continuous patience (?), and Deb for putting up with me during late-night layouts under the waffle ceiling and my really off-thewall cut-line ideas. You really are a great friend.

It's my sincerest wish that everyone will find something in the Shield which applies to them. After all, this book is for you, the students of North Scott By the way, Mark, ... NOTHING!!
